BRIDE-ELECT SHOWERED WITH SERIES OF PRETTY PARTIES

Miss Margaret B. Forbes, whose marriage to Mr. E. B. Forbes, will be solemnized on Tuesday afternoon, has been honored with a number of pretty parties during the week and until the date of the ceremony the popular young bride-elect will be complimented by her friends.

On Friday afternoon Miss Evelyn Salmon was hostess at a beautifully planned bridge-luncheon given for Miss Jackson.

For the occasion the rooms were decorated in a color motif of green and gold. Sunburst roses with ferns and other greenery arranged in a golden crystal basket formed the centerpiece on the luncheon table, which was faultlessly appointed. Place cards suggestive of cupid and his pranks, bore the initials in gold of the guests.

Following the luncheon a bridge game was enjoyed, for which dainty prizes were awarded.

Miss Salmon received her guests in a gown of yellow georgette and the honoree wore a frock of white ruffled organdy.

Friday evening Mrs. W. M. Meacham entertained her friends at a delightful and enjoyable party for Miss Jackson.

Entering the breakfast room the honoree was surprised to see an array of all things that are good that belong in the pantry. Numbers of home-made pickles, jams, preserves and everything to tempt the appetite bore carrels of the hostess. Among the original ideas was a luncheon decorated as a bride's bouquet, from which showers of pantry articles gracefully fell.

After a contest on "The Ideal Husband" and "The Ideal Wife," a dainty luncheon was served. The evening was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. W. T. Knight will entertain on Saturday evening in her home on Central avenue with a dinner for Miss Jackson and members of the bridal party.

Pink roses, dahlias, lilies and ferns will be effectively used in the decorations.

Miss Jackson will again be complimented on Monday evening, following the rehearsal, Miss Annette Smith and Mrs. N. W. Sherman, Jr. will have the bride and members of her party at their guests at a box party at the Orpheum.

Thursday afternoon Miss Nellie Kincannon was the hostess at a charmingly planned miscellaneous shower in her home.

Large bells of clematis and white tulips were suspended from the chandeliers, and the room was decorated to the decoration. To the soft strains of Mendelssohn's "Spring Song," Miss Mitchell and her friends enjoyed a georgette, with hat in harmony, when the parlors were filled by little Miss Margaret Maynard and her friends, Clayton, dressed as flower girls, each scattering flowers in her path.

Miss Kincannon read a tribute to the bride, closing with good wishes for the future. CLUBBING

REHEARSALS FOR PAGEANT

AROUSING MUCH INTEREST.

The time set by Memphis to celebrate the Pilgrim Tercentenary is drawing near. Great interest is being manifested in this wonderful celebration of a week's duration. Memphis is one of the foremost cities to plan any demonstration or recognition of the anniversary of so great and significant an event in America's history. Indeed of English-speaking peoples.

The initial feature of the celebration will be Mrs. Ann Robinson Watson's beautiful historical pageant, a fitting tribute to the expression of the vivid interpretation of the progress and attainments of succeeding generations. Rehearsals were begun last week after much splendid talent had been assembled and parts assigned.

Next week four rehearsals are scheduled at the Nineteenth century club. Miss Kathleen Fleming will direct two rehearsals on Tuesday and Friday mornings at 10 o'clock. These will be of the colonial dance group and the Grecian group.

On Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock Edna Thackeray will direct the Masque of the Nineteenth century. Miss Lynn Black will direct the Masque of the Nineteenth century.

Among activities connected with the great historic pageant the construction of a pageant float is deeply interesting. For instance some of the flowers used in "The Masque of the Royal Children," which will be the first float, is a half-yard in diameter and take their places as "the garden of Eden" in a fascinating personality.

The list of patronesses of the pageant shows the wide-spread cooperation the work has attracted. This list is not complete, because many of those active in such civic and patriotic work are out of the city, but it is, in part, besides the officers of the Tercentenary committee, Mrs. W. H. Williams, Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Lake, Mrs. Hugh Hayes, Mrs. Barker, Mrs. Watson, Mrs. Carnahan, Mrs. C. E. Williams, Mrs. Reynolds, Miss Cole, Miss Jefferson, Mrs. Chigars, Mrs. Clapp.
